KOORIE
HERITAGE TRUST

KHT is a cultural centre of south-eastern Australia's First Peoples. We offer a range of unique and authentic experiences including Aboriginal guided walking tours; the largest collections of Koorie art and artefacts, which is on permanent display; an annual temporary exhibitions program that showcases Victorian First Nations artists; and an opportunity to purchase authentic and unique handcrafted gifts from shopKOORIE.

Our Aboriginal Walking Tours takes you through Federation Square and down to the Birrarung Wilam Common Ground Aboriginal art installations. With one of our experienced Aboriginal guides, you will learn how Naarm (Melbourne) has changed over time together with the significance of the Birrarung (Yarra River). You will gain a deeper and more meaningful understanding of this incredible location, which is an important gathering place for the peoples of the Kulin Nation.

While you are here, take the time to view our exhibition galleries where you will see the work of south-eastern Australian First Nations artists presented as part of our annual temporary exhibitions program. In our permanent collections galleries, you will be surrounded by pieces selected from the only collection dedicated solely to Koorie art and artefacts in the country.

Take the time to visit shopKOORIE and browse our range of beautiful handcrafted items made by our community of artists, designers and craftspeople.

Come and visit us today. We are open from 10.00am to 5.00pm, seven days a week except on Victorian and national public holidays. Established in 1985, the Koorie Heritage Trust is Aboriginal owned and managed.
